RECTOR'S MESSAGE

The University of Saint Joseph is an international Catholic University in and of China. Carrying on the tradition of Catholic Higher Education in Macao, the University is the descendent of the Colegio São Paulo (founded 1594) and, since 1996, under the patronage of the Diocese of Macao and the Catholic University of Portugal, has been a community of students and scholars striving for the highest standards in academic life. Our impetus comes from a profound sense of service - to Macao, to the Greater Bay Area and China, to East and South-East Asia and to the community of Portuguese-speaking countries across the globe.

The University is motivated by a desire to produce graduates who are people of the highest personal integrity capable of rigorous, creative and critical thinking, who seek mastery of their chosen subjects, instinctively work collaboratively and value the other. As a University teaching and learning predominantly in the English language, we are committed to assisting our students in acquiring real proficiency in that language. Students also have the opportunity to learn Chinese (Putonghua) and Portuguese.

USJ understands itself as having the privilege of being a place where cultures can engage harmoniously with one another in the unique setting of Macao, a Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China. Our students and staff are drawn from over forty countries across the world and we truly prize the diverse perspectives this brings.

It is an enormous privilege to lead the University of Saint Joseph and I extend the warmest of welcomes to you. We are committed to improving the quality of our academic life in the light of suggestions from staff, students and society, to better serve higher education in China and Macau.

Deacon Stephen Morgan

4. REGULATIONS AND RULES FOR PROGRAMMES AND STUDY

a. YEAR 1 GUIDE

<https://www.usj.edu.mo/en/new-student-guide-2021/>

b. ACADEMIC YEAR AND WORKING TIMES

The academic year starts in September each year and ends in August of the following year. The academic year is divided into three periods. The Fall Semester starts normally in September and the Spring Semester starts in January or February each year, as announced yearly on the Academic Calendar. A Summer Semester may be organized in July and August each year, during which examinations, short-courses and other academic activities may be organized. Academic activities take place normally from Monday to Friday, even though some programmes may include activities also on Saturdays. No academic activities are scheduled on Sundays or public holidays.

c. TEACHING AND LEARNING THE CREDIT SYSTEM AND ITS OPERATIONS

1 unit of credit corresponds approximately to 15 contact hours (some exceptions are made in respect programmes approved by the DSES prior to the new Higher Education Law.

d. REGISTRATION FOR, AND ENROLMENT INTO MODULES

1. Students are required to register each academic year, within the periods specified yearly by the university, except in their year of matriculation.
2. Only registered students will be allowed to attend classes, seminars and examinations.
3. Bachelor students who, by the end of each academic year, fail 20% or more, of the accumulated credit-load of their respective programme and year of studies will be retained in their current year of studies. Students in this situation will pay as tuition the most beneficial to them of the following two: (i) the normal full year's tuition; or (ii) the tuition corresponding to the number of enrolled credits or modules.
4. Bachelor students retained in Year 1 will be given an exemption to what is defined in (3) and be allowed to progress to Year 2 as long as the proportion of credits failed in Year 1 is below 40% of the total credit-load scheduled for Year 1.

5. The university may institute language proficiency requirements for advancing to subsequent years or phases of specific academic programmes. Failure to comply with those requirements may result in students being retained in their current year of studies.
6. Late registration is accepted within the supplementary period defined in the university calendar, but will be subject to a penalty fee.
7. Students in debt to the university may be refused registration unless a payment plan has been approved.
8. Registration is valid for one academic year. Failure to register for the next year within the timeline stated in the university calendar may result in the student being classified as "Drop-Out".

e. ADDING, SWAPPING AND DROPPING MODULES

1. Bachelor students may add, swap or drop modules to their schedule.
2. Students may add modules to their schedule during the announced periods each Semester. Requests to add modules are considered based on the following conditions:
 - a. Priority is given to students adding previously failed modules;
 - b. Adding the required module does not create scheduling overlaps;
 - c. The maximum number of students defined for each module is not exceeded;
 - d. Added modules belong to the respective student's study plan and are at the student's current Year of Studies, or below;
 - e. Students can only add modules up to three days before the respective module starts;
 - f. Students cannot enroll in more than 22 credits each Semester. An exception is made for students retaking previously failed modules, in which cases this limit is raised to 25 credits / Semester.
3. Students may swap from one module's section to another section of the same module during the announced periods each Semester. Requests to swap modules are considered based on the following conditions:
 - a. The section being swapped has the same name, code and number of credits;
 - b. In the case of language modules, the level of the swapped module is the same as the originally enrolled module;
 - c. The swap does not create a scheduling overlap;
 - d. The maximum number of students defined for each section is not exceeded;
 - e. Students can only swap modules up to three days before the respective module starts.

4. Students may be authorized to drop modules within the first two weeks of classes. Considering the risk that dropping modules poses for a student's timely graduation, drop requests may only be processed after the respective student is informed and assumes responsibility for the following risks:
 - a. Delay in graduation;
 - b. That a specific module may not be offered in the future;
 - c. The maximum number of students defined for each module is not exceeded;
5. Adding, swapping or dropping modules may require the payment of a fee, according to the university's tuition fee table at the time. Whenever payment is required, students must make the respective payment before the request is approved.
6. All add, swap and drop requests are authorized by the Registrar's Office, in accordance with the guidelines described in this article. The Registrar, in consultation with the respective Dean, may authorize exceptions to the listed guidelines.

f. ADD/SWAP MODULES PROCEDURES

Bachelor and Pre-University students at the University of Saint Joseph can add/swap modules to their normal schedule. The conditions to do so are:

1. No scheduling conflict with an assigned module;
2. Each module has a limited number of students. Once that number is reached no more students can be added with or without permission of the lecturer;
3. Students can only Add modules of their respective year of studies, or lower (e.g. a Year 3 student is not allowed to Add modules from Year 4);
4. Students cannot enroll in more than 22 credits each Semester. Each Semester, the Add/Swap function will be restricted to students that need to retake failed modules first and only after open to all students. During that first stage, and in exceptional circumstances, students may be allowed to add slightly more than 22 credits;
5. Students can only add modules up to three days before the respective class starts;
6. All applications must be done through MyUSJ;
7. Adding or Swapping modules may require the payment of a fee, based on the Tuition & Related Fees at the time. Whenever payment is required, students must make the respective payment before the request is approved.

The Drop Module Form (ARO-404) is available in the appendix.

g. CREDIT TRANSFER, EXEMPTION AND RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Exemption, Substitution and Accreditation Procedures

1. Applicants, except those for the Pre-University programme, may be exempted, accredited or allowed to substitute certain modules in their chosen programme in the following situations:

- a. When justified by an applicant's proven achievements and competencies in that respective field, according to criteria established by the Senate;
 - b. When justified by an applicant's prior/in-course studies in tertiary institutions, at least at the same level, and based on a recommendation from the respective Programme/Department Coordinator¹ and the University's requirements for recognition of prior learning;
 - c. When justified by an applicant's prior/in-course non-certificated learning or experience undertaken outside formal education or training systems, and based on a recommendation from the respective Coordinator and the University's requirements for recognition of non-award-bearing experiential learning;
 - d. When approval is granted by the Registrar and the relevant Scientific Council and Dean or the Dean's appointed delegate for the student to complete an equivalent module offered at the University (with at least the same number of credits);
 - e. When an ex-student of the University re-applies to complete a previously unfinished programme or requests to change his/her student status from Special to Regular. In these situations, the credits are accredited only if the student met all the programme's requirements at the time of his/her original completion of the module.
2. Exemptions, accreditations and substitutions are acknowledged in a student's study plan as "CR" instead of a grade, except for those referred to in (1e).
3. The maximum number of accreditations that may be granted in the situations described in 1b) and 1c) together is one-third of the total credit load of the respective programme (rounded up to the closest whole number), of which 1c) cannot exceed 20% of the credits of the programme.
4. In the situations referred to (5.1e) students must return any awards previously received from the University for the completion of those modules whose credits will now be recognised in the new study plan.
5. All exemptions and accreditations are authorised and recorded in the respective student's study plan by the Academic Affairs Office, in accordance with the procedures described in this article. Exemptions and accreditations may require the payment of fees, in accordance with the University's Tuition and Related Fee

Exemption Application Guideline (for language modules) (ARO-450-1117-02)

Requirements

Students proven to have C1 level or above in English can apply for exemption from taking English classes. The exemption requirement for Putonghua is C2 for native speakers of Chinese, and A2 for non-native speakers of Chinese. The exemption requirements for Portuguese is C1 for native speakers of Portuguese and A2 for non-native speakers.

Direct exemption can be granted upon presentation of external language exam results which prove that students have the required level for exemption and approval from the respective programme coordinators. Students can also request an internal exam with the endorsement from a language instructor of the respective language.

Process for Direct Exemption

1. Submit the Exemption Application Form and certificate as proof of language level to the Academic Affairs Office (AAO). [Cambridge = C1, IELTS = 7 or TOEFL = 95 of 120]
2. AAO verifies the certificate and passes it on to the programme coordinator to sign for approval. (Coordinators may reject exemption request depending on significance of the language course relative to the overall programme).
3. Credits for the exempted modules will be counted but the student will not receive a grade for the exempted modules.

Process for Internal Exemption Exam Request

1. Fill in the Exemption Application Form and get endorsement from an instructor of the language the student is applying for exemption from.
2. Submit endorsed form to AAO for arrangement of language exam.
3. AAO contact the respective language coordinator to set up a panel of two examiners, consisting of the respective language instructors to test the written and/or spoken language ability of the student.
4. Examiners put in the result of the student's exam on the Exemption Application Form.

5. Examiners pass on the form to the student's programme coordinator.
6. Programme coordinator signs for approval/rejection and returns the form to AAO. (Coordinators may reject exemption requests depending on significance of the language course relative to the overall programme).
7. Once approved, the respective language modules will be taken off the student's study plan.
8. Credits for the exempted modules will be counted but the student will not receive a grade for the exempted modules.

RPL Application Process for former USJ students (AAO-546-1117-02)

The form must be used exclusively by students seeking recognition for credits completed earlier in a programme offered by USJ at the same level as the programme s/he is applying for.

Application for RPL must be made at the time of application for admission, by submitting the completed enclosed form to the Academic Affairs Office. The RPL processing fee is waived for students seeking recognition of credits completed earlier at USJ.

Following the decision on admission, accepted students will also receive confirmation on the results of their RPL request. Credits granted, if any, are considered when matriculation students in the programme, which may result in students being automatically matriculated in an advanced Year of Study (e.g. Year 2, 3 or 4).

h. AUDITING

ECL-523 Policy on Auditing Modules

i. ATTENDANCE AND LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Attendance and active participation in the classroom activities are an important part of the educational experience offered at USJ. The sharing of ideas and experiences is crucial for effective learning, and scheduled classes at USJ are designed to invite discussion and cooperative learning. Thus, students at USJ are expected to attend all classes on time for each scheduled session and to remain actively engaged in the class activities throughout the whole duration of the session.

Students who fail to attend at least 2/3 of the scheduled sessions of a specific module are not eligible to receive a passing grade. Should a student have a medical or other justified reason for being absent from a specific session, s/he should inform the respective Lecturer in advance. If that absence exceeds 5 days, students are also required to submit the supporting documents at the Academic Affairs Office, enclosed to a Special Request Form. In the case of justified absences, students may be given additional opportunities to compensate for missed sessions, assignments and/or examinations, based on the consideration of the respective Lecturer.

Lecturers keep attendance records of each session through MyUSJ.

Students who fail to meet the attendance requirements (as stated in the specific course syllabus or, in case of omission, in the university's academic regulations) are not eligible to pass the respective module. Even though specific Modules may require a higher proportion of attendance, at the very minimum students are required to attend two-thirds of the scheduled sessions in order to be able to receive a passing grade for the respective Module.

Arriving late and/or leaving early from a class unjustifiably, as well as failure to actively engage in a class, may provide grounds for the Lecturer to consider a specific student absent from class.

Penalty

Students who fail to meet the attendance requirements of their respective classes automatically fail the module. The repetition of a module or the participation in an exam is subject to a fee, according to the tuition fee schedule at the time.

Students with chronic poor attendance may also be called for an interview by the respective Coordinator and/or by a representative of the Office for Student and Alumni Affairs and, ultimately, may be required to withdraw from the University, according to the University's academic regulations.

Planned Absences

There may be cases where a student knows s/he will not be able to attend the required number of classes for a course. In these cases, the student must discuss the situation with the respective Lecturer before the first class, to decide whether some alternative arrangement can be made. Supporting evidence showing the serious and special nature of the situation must be provided in all such cases.

Absences that Cannot be Planned

There may be cases where a student cannot meet the attendance requirement. As soon as this situation is known, the student should discuss it with the respective lecturer and explain why s/he cannot meet the attendance requirements. Supporting evidence showing the serious and special nature of the situation must be provided in all such cases.

Absences for Medical Reasons

Students wishing to have their absences justified due to medical reasons must do one of the following:

1. If the absence is for less than 5 consecutive days, students should approach the respective lecturer(s) directly. The respective lecturer(s) can decide whether the student's absence can be considered justified and whether any requests to compensate for their absences should be entertained.
2. If the absence is for more than 5 consecutive days, students are required to submit the following documents to the Academic Affairs Office as soon as they are able to return to university.
 - a. Evidence (e.g original copy of medical certificate)
 - b. Special Request Form indicating the reason and the period for absence

The documentation will be reviewed and a decision made by the Registrar as to whether the absences can be considered justified.

Please note that even though failure to attend classes or examinations due to medical reasons may be considered justified, the university has no obligation to repeat any scheduled class, exam or activity or to provide additional opportunities for the student to compensate for the missed activities. A reasonable effort will be made to accommodate these cases whenever possible, but there are no guarantees and it is possible that students in these situations may fail the respective modules and be required to re-enroll.

Faculty Attendance

Whenever a Lecturer is late for 15 minutes the respective class is automatically dismissed. A student representative is however required to report the case to the Academic Affairs Office.

Missing Examinations, or not Submitting Coursework on Time

If a student has strong, approved and documented, reasons for missing an examination or not completing the required coursework on time, he or she may be given an additional opportunity to compensate for the missed assignment or exam, according to the decision of the respective Lecturer.

Whenever possible, such arrangements should be made prior to the examination.

The Consequences of Non-Attendance or Non-Submission

Students who do not attend the required assessment automatically fail the module.

Students failing a module for non-attendance or failure to submit assessment must make it up by repeating the course when it is next run (usually in the following year). Students must pay additional tuition to retake the course, according to the tuition fee schedule in force.

Special Arrangements

In exceptional circumstances, special arrangements may be made to cover situations where students cannot attend classes or fail to submit the assessment.

In all cases, these special arrangements must be agreed with the respective Lecturer and formally approved by the respective Coordinator and/or Dean. Private, unofficial arrangements between students and the respective Lecturer are not permitted.

Whenever special arrangements are agreed upon, this agreement must be approved before the last class of the respective module. After the last session, no further requests for special arrangements will be entertained.

j. SUSPENSION OF CLASSES

Please refer to "Inclement weather/Class Cancellations" in the appendix.

k. RETAKES AND RESITS

A fee is charged for the repetition of modules, according to the tuition fee schedule of the academic year in which the module is retaken.

1. Make-up Exams:
 - a. Students graded as "Incomplete" may attend a make-up exam to determine their final grade.
 - b. The make-up exams are set directly by the academic staff in the form of a written exam or assignment.
 - c. Make-up exam(s) must be set and graded within one month of posting an "Incomplete" grade.
2. Exams:
 - a. Exams are authorized by the Dean of the Faculty and can be offered to students who previously failed the module so long as they have met the minimum attendance requirements..
 - b. Exams must consist of a piece of work completed and proctored on-campus. Exams in areas that are more practical in nature may involve also a preparatory component of independent work.
 - c. Exams may be used to pass a previously failed module or to improve an existing grade
 - d. Students are authorized to sit exams for improvement of a specific module's grade once. Whenever exams are used for the improvement of a grade, the exam must take place within the same academic year of the student's enrolment in that specific class and the grade of the exam is only valid if it is higher than the original grade.
 - e. Registration for exams is made through the Academic Affairs Office, subject to the fee stated in the Tuition Fee Tables.

Admission to Exam Form

1. Requisites: Students who meet the following criteria may request to be admitted for exam:
 - a. Registered as “active” in the programme;
 - b. No outstanding debt to the university;
 - c. Previously enrolled in the respective module meeting the minimum attendance requirements (i.e. two-thirds, or more, of the classes).
2. Request: To request to be admitted to an exam, students must submit the respective form (enclosed below) to the Academic Affairs Office. This request must be made during the months of May or June each year and exams will take place in July.

Note: Students who receive a grade of “INC” in a specific module may be requested by their lectures to complete special assignments or an exam to determine their final grade. These assignments or exams are arrangements made directly between the respective lecturer and the students and do not have to go through the following process.

3. Internal Process:
 - a. Registered as “active” in the programme;
 - b. No outstanding debt to the university;
 - c. Previously enrolled in the respective module meeting the minimum attendance requirements (i.e. two-thirds, or more, of the classes).
4. Additional Information:
 - a. Exams take place each year during the month of July.
 - b. Exams are graded on a 0-20 scale.

5. TEACHING , LEARNING AND ASSESSMENT

a. TEACHING AND LEARNING

1. Modules are primarily delivered through lectures, organized on a classroom, face-to-face basis. Distance learning may also be used to complement the learning experience.
2. Modules may be offered primarily through distance learning when so established in the respective programme design approved by the competent authorities.
3. The university may organize modules in the form of tutorials for a particular student or groups of students, subject to the approval of the respective Dean. Tutorials generally involve a reduced number of contact hours, compensated by additional requirements for independent work.

b. GRADING SYSTEM AND GPA

1. In principle, grades must be submitted to the students within one month of either the last session of the module or its exam date, according to the grading scales referred in this article and summarized in Grading Scale.
2. Generally, grades of modules and Master dissertations must be submitted on a scale of 0 to 20. Additionally, some modules may be graded on a "Pass" / "Fail" scale, as determined by the Academic Council. In exceptional circumstances students may be graded temporarily as "Incomplete", when academic staff requests additional projects or an additional exam from a student, to more accurately determine the final grade. "Incomplete" grades must be replaced by a final grade within one month of being submitted or will be automatically converted to a "Fail" by the Academic Affairs Office.
3. Grades from 0 to 9 represent a fail, whereas 10 to 20 represent a pass.
4. In the computation of the final grade, a decimal part inferior to 0.5 is ignored and a decimal part equal or above 0.5 is rounded up to the next integral number.
5. Students that fail to attend at least two-thirds of the scheduled sessions of a specific module are not eligible to receive a direct passing grade for that module, in accordance with the university's Charter. However, whenever considered justified by the respective Lecturer, students may be graded an "Incomplete" and be requested to complete additional assignments or examinations to compensate for the missed sessions.
6. All grades are considered permanent after three months of publication and may not be altered. Within this period, they may be subject to Grade Appeal or correction of clerical errors.
